

Archery Classifications

Archery classifications are awarded as a measure of an archers ability. They are awarded for scores achieved in recognised rounds both indoors and outdoors, the details of these rounds can be found on the club website under useful information.

In outdoor competitions they are graded as follows; Third class, Second class, First class, Bowman, Master Bowman and Grand Master Bowman, plus Junior Bowman and Junior Master Bowman and open to all 4 bow styles.

In Indoor competition they range from A to H with A being the highest but only open to Recurve and Compound bow styles.

Classifications from Third Class to Bowman and all indoor classes can be awarded by the Club but Master Bowman and Grand Master Bowman must be shot at record status events and claimed from GNAS

What is Required

Members must shoot a recognised round at a club shoot on three occasions with a signed scorecard and submitted to the records officer. basically the higher the award the longer the distances need to be shot. Again the details are on the website under useful info-rounds and classifications.

Badges

The badges are shown above and are available at a cost of £3.
